Get Fast, Accurate Radon Test Results. Every Time.

Radalink is one of the few radon instrument manufacturers with devices that meet the EPA real estate device requirement for minimum sensitivity of at least 16 CPH/pCi/L. Since the EPA abandoned the radon proficiency program in 1996, the private proficiency program and its licensing states have continued to disregard this requirement, allowing home inspectors all across the country and to perform radon tests with substandard equipment.

Our monitors produce accurate, reliable results in a single hour—with a greater confidence than most monitors struggle to achieve in a 48-hour average. Radalink Certified Test Reports are backed by a 120-day warranty.

We file the monthly reports for licensing states, including a Quality Assurance Plan, Standard Operating Procedures and worker exposure records. We also offer free radon measurement training for you and your employees.

Our Mission:

Radalink is focused on eliminating radon related deaths by raising awareness, providing education, and innovative technology with superior accuracy and professionalism.

Work with the very best—choose Radalink, the most valued resource for radon information in the nation, for all your home inspections.

Here's What Other Home Inspectors Say About Radalink:

Radalink AirCat monitors are top of the line. One of the features we appreciate the most is instant report delivery. Also, there's peace of mind knowing each test is evaluated at the laboratory prior to customer distribution. Radalink keeps track of our radon monitors for us. There is no guessing where the machines are or what time they can be retrieved. Having Radalink is like having a Radon Test Coordinator on staff...priceless!

Working with Radalink is awesome! The professional reports are processed in a timely manner, and customer support is always there to answer any questions I may have. The equipment quality and ease of use allows me to concentrate on what's happening in the field. The monitors are recalibrated on schedule, and that is important when dealing with clients. It is great having the confidence of the lab behind me and for simplifying the process so I can take care of my customers. Thank you, Radalink!

The reason I went with Radalink is because I don't have to do the reports myself. Radalink sends the reports to the client and to the state. I do not have to tie up my time doing the reports. The personnel are always friendly and ready to help with any questions I might have. It is good to do business with somebody that gives such great service.
